The Context

Corporate reporting in India has evolved over the last decade with the inclusion of CSR, BRR, CDP, GRI and other sustainability reports. Indian companies are increasingly focused on issues of transparency and reporting on non-financial capitals. The recent SEBI circular recommending Integrated Reporting takes this evolution a step further. Companies are encouraged to adopt the <IR> framework that is based on value creation across the six capitals in business.

Based on this IIRC and NGOBOX are hosting a masterclass on Integrated Reporting <IR> during India CSR Summit and Exhibition 2017 in Gurgaon.

This masterclass will focus on understanding how corporate reporting in India could benefit and adopt <IR> principles. It will explore themes of reporting on non-financial aspects, creating shared value and communicating the value. The aim will be to help companies get acquainted and started with their <IR> journey through the use of technical discourse, global and Indian examples of <IR> implementation and interactive Q&A session.

The masterclass will be followed by an Open Space Technology session at poolside.

About Integrated Reporting <IR>

Integrated Reporting is enhancing the way organizations think, plan and report the story of their business. The framework applies principles and concepts that are focused on bringing greater cohesion and efficiency to the reporting process. It improves the quality of information available to providers of financial capital to enable a more efficient and productive allocation of capital. In India corporate reporting has evolved over the last decade with the inclusion of CSR, BRR, CDP, GRI and other sustainability reports. Indian companies are increasingly focused on issues of transparency and reporting on non-financial capitals. The recent SEBI circular recommending Integrated Reporting takes this evolution a step further by encouraging the Top 500 companies to adopt the framework.
