CSR HIGHLIGHTS

I. UPL's SARAS CONSERVATION PROGRAMME

UPL's 'Vasudha Programme' is an integrated nature conservation effort for protecting and promoting a green environment. Most of their programs under this project target public awareness about environmental conservation and sustainability. Different components under Vasudha Programme are:

1. Sarus Conservation
2. Social Forestry
3. Mangrove plantation
4. Eco-Club

UPL Sarus Conservation Project -Out of the 6 species of Cranes that are found in India, only Sarus Crane (Grus antigone) is a resident species. These birds are known to use wetlands and agriculture fields and live in association with human beings. But today, loss of natural habitat and increased human interference pose a threat for their existence and thus they have been declared 'Vulnerable'. Many instances of deaths due to collision with power lines have also been recorded.

The long-term conservation of the species that inhabits human surroundings outside protected areas requires community involvement and education/awareness programs in the major breeding, foraging and roosting areas. In Gujarat, the Sarus conservation project was started in Kheda, Anand and Vadodara districts with the following objectives:

- To assess the status of Sarus crane's presence in selected districts of Gujarat
- To understand their preferred habitat
- To gauge the threats to these birds and to spread awareness among the local communities about conservation of the bird.

Following the assessment, Rural Sarus Protection Groups comprising volunteers were formed. These volunteers were trained in documentation, handling of injured birds and were linked with state forest department for future support and sustainability.

Evaluation of Success/Results –

- The project documented 450 Sarus cranes from Kheda district of Gujarat, a decline of 38.94% in 15 yrs. from previous record of 737 (by GEER foundation).
- Forty five wetlands in Kheda, Anand and Vadodara district were documented during the surveys.
- Important breeding sites of Sarus Cranes were documented with total no. of breeding sites as 51 and total no. of juveniles as 79 (2015 & 2016).
- Seven congregation sites in summer and six sites in winter were recorded.
- Awareness programmes with 400 farmers in 12 villages, lead to reporting of 15 nests from agriculture fields and successful fledging of 28 juveniles.
- Awareness programmes on Sarus crane protection in 42 schools with 3022 students and 133 teachers lead to forming of 10 Rural Sarus Protection Groups comprising 30 volunteers who got trained in documentation and handling of injured birds.

II. DEEPAK FOUNDATION

There is conclusive evidence that provision and access to Comprehensive Emergency Obstetric & New-born Care (CEmONC) services for pregnant women is the best and most cost-effective strategy for reduction in new born and maternal mortality. Prediction and/or prevention of pregnancy and childbirth complications is difficult and given that there is a critical period of few hours before a woman succumbs, provision and access to effective CEmONC services can save the lives of these women and infants
